

The Lazy Perfectionist

He used to waste his energy by doing small things perfectly

No one would ever appreciate the things, he'd done -

He tried so hard - perfectly -

They just don't know! - perfectly -

How can they know? - perfectly -

They only see the big thing, the most important one -

He did not start - perfectly -

They just don't know! - perfectly -

How can they know? - perfectly -

He's the lonely perfectionist - mostly he's not even noticed

All the others seem to be so strong - he wonders, where he can belong.

He wanted to do so many things

But he's too lazy to do them all

He loves a girl, he hears her call;

He imagines, what she thinks.

He knows, he knows, he should work for school,

But she's so sweet, and they'd swim in pool.

Time flows by and by and by and by

Work isn't done while feelings fly that high.

Well, she looks at him in love, does not watch him from above

She looks into his eyes, that move and twinkle at her

His eyes, they shine - mysteriously -

She feels so fine - mysteriously -

She can't explain - mysteriously -

He was the lonely perfectionist - with her his fears can never persist.
